Les jardins botaniques royaux

Royal Botanical Gardens

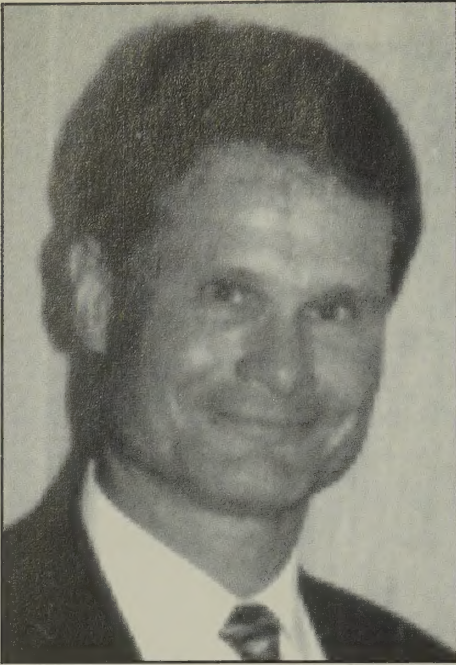

Mission Statement

The mission of Royal Botanical Gardens is to be recognized in Canada and throughout the world for our unique contribution to the collection, research, conservation exhibition and interpretation of the plant world and the development of public understanding and appreciation of the relationship between the plant world, humanity and the rest of nature.

Aux jardins botaniques royaux, nous avons pour mission la reconnaissance au Canada et à travers le monde de notre unique apport à la collection, la recherche, la conservation, l'exposition et l'interprétation de la flore, et le développement de la compréhension et de l'appréciation par le public des rapports entre le monde végétal, l'humanité et le reste de la nature.

Royal Botanical Gardens is funded by the people of Ontario through RBC Members, the RBC Auxiliary, many corporations, foundations, individuals, the Ontario Ministry of Citizenship, Culture and Recreation, the Regional Municipality of Hamilton-Wentworth and the Regional Municipality of Halton.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

In April 1997 I was honoured to succeed Joe Pigott as President of Royal Botanical Gardens. As many of our supporters know, I am the third generation in my family to hold this position. I have truly grown up with the Gardens, and I am pleased to have the opportunity to contribute to this wonderful institution.

The past year has been one of continued growth at the Gardens. Consistent with recent directions, the Board has worked towards the goal of ultimate financial independence. We recognize that this will only come with significant growth of the RBG Endowment, but we are proud that during the last year our self-generated revenues have grown to match operational support from government - a dramatic change from 10 years ago, when we relied on government for 82% of our funding.

The Board has seen a number of changes over the past year. In March 1997 we were saddened by the loss of Bill Luton. The terms of Dr. Calvin Chong, William Duron, Don Granger, and Councillor Dave Wilson expired during the year, and Patricia Fischer resigned. Priscilla Strong succeeded JoAnn Haworth as Auxiliary Board President with Betty Langille as Auxiliary Liaison Member. We were pleased to welcome Marnie Spears and Don Marr as new members of the Board.

In December we were shocked by the sudden passing of Doug Watson, a Past President who had served on the RBG Board since 1989. Doug's great commitment and contribution to RBG were honoured by his family's and friends' establishment of the J. Douglas Watson Endowment Fund at RBG.

Of the many significant developments at RBG over the past year, one of the most gratifying was the startling revegetation at Cootes Paradise. For those of us who have worked for many years with the massive marshland restoration known as Project Paradise, the positive impact of excluding mature carp through the fishway is a great reward to our many stakeholders.

Although we were not blessed with good weather during RBG's peak season, we are pleased with our heightened public profile and improved level of service to our visitors. Plans for the coming year will build on these accomplishments. While the Board is painfully aware that we are understaffed in a number of critical areas, we feel confident that we are building an effective and enthusiastic team under the able leadership of our Director, Sharilyn Ingram. We are looking forward to 1998 with optimism, and we invite you to share our enthusiasm about the future of Royal Botanical Gardens.

RAPPORT DU PRÉSIDENT

En avril 1997, j'ai eu l'honneur de succéder à Joe Pigott en tant que président des Jardins botaniques royaux. Comme nombre de nos partisans le savent, je représente la troisième génération de ma famille à remplir ces fonctions. J'ai vraiment grandi avec les Jardins et j'ai le plaisir d'avoir l'occasion de contribuer à cette merveilleuse institution.

Les Jardins viennent de connaître une année de croissance continue. Conformément aux politiques récentes, le conseil d'administration s'efforce d'atteindre le but ultime d'une indépendance financière. Nous reconnaissons que nous ne l'obtiendrons que grâce à une hausse importante des dotations aux JBR, mais nous sommes fiers de ce que, au cours de l'année passée, les revenus que nous avons engendré nous-mêmes ont augmenté jusqu'à égaler le soutien opérationnel des gouvernements, changement radical par rapport à il y a 10 ans où 82% de nos fonds provenaient des gouvernements.

Le Conseil a connu un certain nombre de changements au cours de l'année dernière. En mars 1997, nous avons perdu avec tristesse Bill Luton. Les mandats du Dr Calvin Chong, de William Duron, de Don Granger et du conseiller Dave Wilson ont pris fin pendant l'année et Patricia Fischer a démissionné. Priscilla Strong a succédé à JoAnn Haworth en tant que présidente auxiliaire du Conseil, et Betty Langille est devenue membre auxiliaire du service de liaison. Nous avons aussi eu le plaisir d'accueillir Marnie Spears et Don Marr comme nouveaux membres du Conseil.

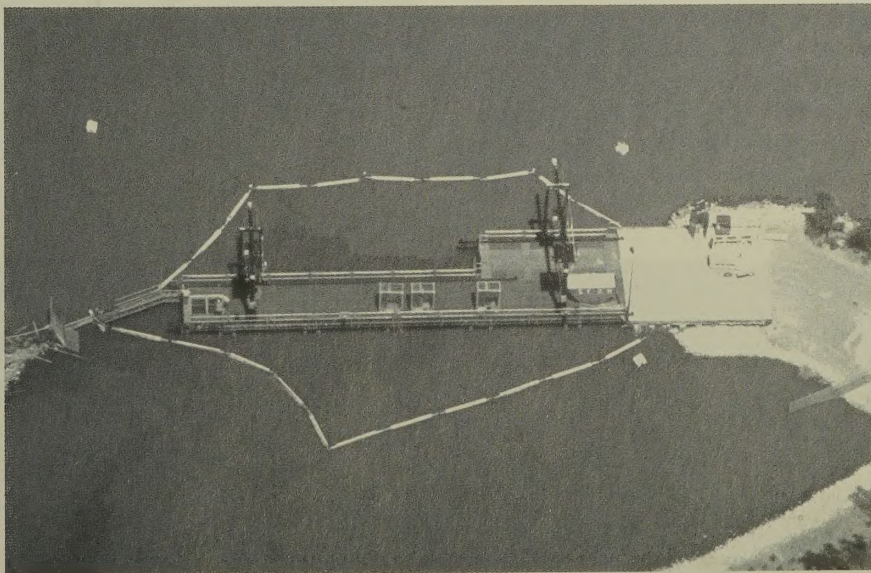

En décembre, nous avons appris avec choc le décès subit de Doug Watson, ancien président qui avait été membre des JBR depuis 1989. L'engagement et la contribution de Doug envers les JBR ont été honorées par l'établissement, par sa famille et ses amis, du Fonds de dotations J. Douglas Watson aux JBR.

Parmi les nombreux développements importants de l'an passé, l'un des plus agréables fut l'extraordinaire remise en végétation de Cootes Paradise. Pour ceux qui ont travaillé pendant des années à l'important Projet Paradis de restauration des marais, l'impact positif de l'élimination des carpes adultes grâce au couloir à poissons est un résultat encourageant pour tous nos partenaires.

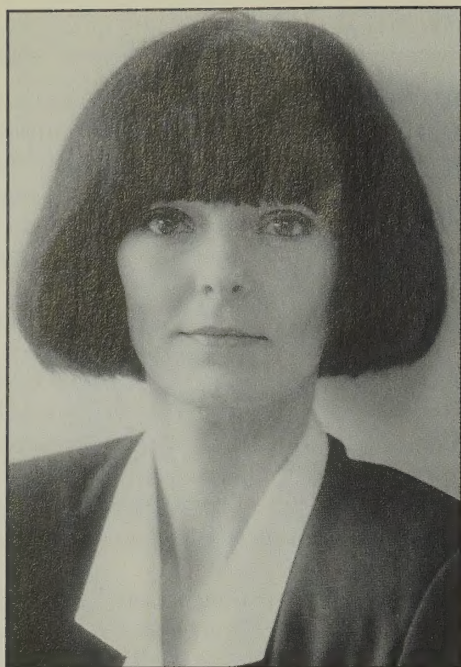

Bien que le temps n'ait pas été très clément pendant la saison la plus occupée des JBR, nous sommes satisfaits de notre reconnaissance accrue par le public et de l'amélioration de notre service envers nos visiteurs.

Les plans pour l'année à venir seront bâtis sur ces accomplissements. Le Conseil sait bien qu'il nous manque du personnel dans certains services critiques; pourtant, nous sommes sûrs que nous formons une équipe efficace et enthousiaste sous la direction compétente de Sharilyn Ingram. Nous envisageons l'année 1998 avec optimisme et nous vous invitons à partager notre enthousiasme quant à l'avenir des Jardins botaniques royaux.

DIRECTOR'S REPORT

In reporting the activities of the past year, I am pleased to advise that Royal Botanical Gardens is facing the future with a renewed sense of mission and confidence.

As a public botanical garden, we hold our collections and lands in trust for the people of Ontario. Our responsibilities include not only physical care, but also the generation, preservation, and sharing of knowledge which informs our care of those assets and educates the public. As our President has noted, our challenge is to find ways to fulfil these societal responsibilities during a period in which our traditional sources of government funding have diminished.

At RBG we believe in the value of what we do. Therefore, our direction is clear: we have to make people aware of what we offer, and we have to involve them in enjoying and understanding the breadth of this wonderful resource.

In 1997 we took a number of steps in this direction. Our media coverage increased significantly as reporters drew upon our expertise as well as covered special events. We continue to enhance our appeal to gardeners through educational programs, demonstration gardens, and new plant introductions. In addition to more interpretive signage, we introduced Discovery Carts so that visitors could explore subjects in greater depth. New garden features included the Rose Walkway in Hendrie Park and the Sondra Cornett Peony Collection at the Laking Garden.

With regard to environmental issues, we showcased the challenges and successes of marshland restoration in a new exhibit The Once and Future Paradise at the Nature Interpretive Centre. Teachers have responded with enthusiasm to our redeveloped school programs, and our camps for children and families are building a dedicated clientele of young naturalists. Thanks to unprecedented corporate support, we also reopened the spectacular Escarpment Interpretive Area at Rock Chapel, and we continued to upgrade our 30 km of trails.

Clearly, our efforts are paying off. Despite frequently disastrous weather during peak season, in 1997 our membership base exceeded 8,000, which translates into direct support from over 15,000 individuals. Our corporate support has grown, and our new website has attracted international cybervisitors. Over 300 members of the RBG Auxiliary continue to contribute their creativity and hard work every day of the year. And, as the pre-eminent tourism attraction within the Greater Bay Area, RBG has been recognized as an essential part of the economic infrastructure of our region.

Ultimately, Royal Botanical Gardens exists in order to enrich the lives of the people of Ontario and Canada. I thank all the supporters who have worked with us over the past year, and I feel confident that RBG's value to society will become even more evident in the future.

Exceptionally cool weather held back blooms throughout April and May, resulting in unusual overlap of bloom times throughout the Spring.

IN TOUCH WITH OUR PUBLIC

■ A new exhibition titled A Once and Future Paradise was officially opened at the Nature Interpretive Centre on October 23. The exhibit tells the story of the changing nature of Cootes Paradise, inviting visitors to explore the area's rich past and catch a glimpse of its bright future before heading out on our trails to enjoy today's experience first hand.

■ Enrollment in educational programming at the Nature Interpretive Centre (based on the Common Curriculum developed by the Ontario Ministry of Education) was up 10% over 1996 and offered students the opportunity to participate in a variety of hands-on, multi-sensory activities in nature studies.

■ The very successful Summer Camp program was expanded in 1997, with camps being offered during the Christmas Break. In total, over 600 children ages 2 to 15 participated in these camps, representing a 33% increase and revenues of over $48,000.

■ September 1997 saw the start of the RBG School for Horticultural Judges with the first of seven sessions, attended by nearly 100 participants from across Ontario.

■ Despite a slow start due to inclement weather early in the season, general attendance levels were maintained and staff presented a full calendar of festivals that were well attended and received by our visitors.

OUR LIVING MUSEUM

■ Collection development in a number of gardens was made possible through the generous support of individuals, corporations and foundations.

■ On June 14, the same weekend RBG hosted the 94th Annual Meeting and 5th International Show of the American Peony Society, we celebrated the opening of the Sondra Cornett Peony Collection, named in honour of a long time supporter and past president of the Gardens.

■ On June 29 we officially re-opened the Rose Walkway entrance to the Rose Garden.

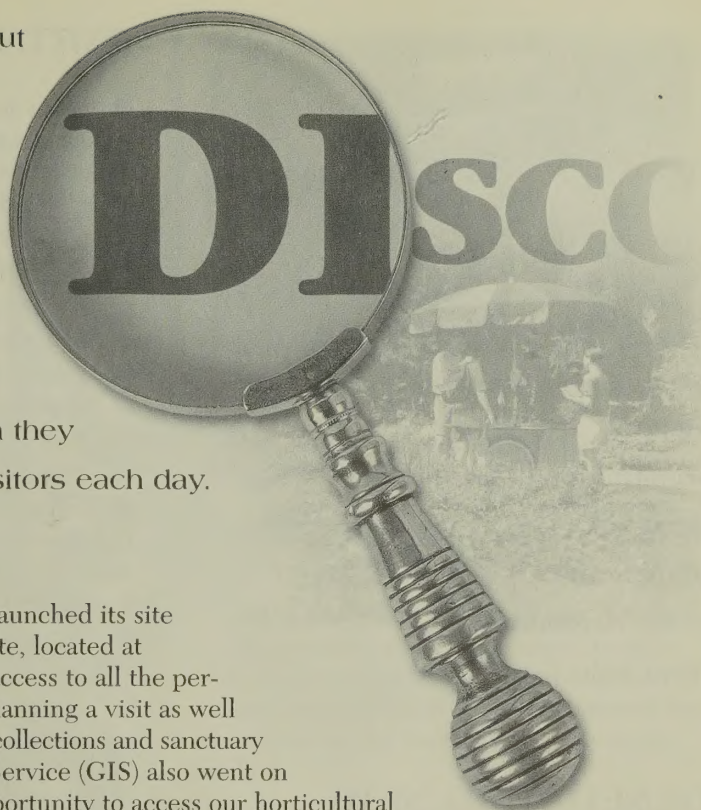

■ Two new borders were added to the Border Buffet of Home Demonstration gardens in Hendrie Park. One, a xeriscape, was designed by Mary Anne Brinckman of Toronto. The second, an Easy Care Perennial Border, was designed by Dennis Eveleigh.

Internationally acclaimed geneticist, environmental activist, host of The Nature of Things and author Dr. David Suzuki filled the auditorium as he presented issues explored in his latest book, The Sacred Balance: Rediscovering Our Place in Nature.

The Discovery Carts rolled out for the first time during the Lilac Festival and became a daily part of the visitor experience over the summer. These mobile activity centres help to animate our collections, and in their first year of operation they attracted up to 50% of our visitors each day.

■ In the fall of 1997, the Gardens launched its site on the World Wide Web. The website, located at www.rbg.ca, provides visitors with access to all the pertinent information required when planning a visit as well as more detailed information on our collections and sanctuary lands. The Gardening Information Service (GIS) also went on line, allowing Internet users the opportunity to access our horticultural expertise by e-mail as well as by phone. In total, the GIS dealt with over 4000 inquiries.

■ Following years of closure to the public, the Escarpment Interpretive Area at Rock Chapel reopened on October 30. The project included a structural evaluation of the existing stone, steel and wood stairway which had been used to take visitors from the top of our escarpment property at Rock Chapel to its base. The stairway was redesigned and modified and the results include a new viewing platform, new interpretation and the re-opening of the Armstrong Trail loop.

GENERATING NEW KNOWLEDGE

■ The Canadian Botanical Conservation Network (CBCN) and the Botanical Conservation Office of Royal Botanical Gardens received a $70,000 grant over two years from the W. Garfield Weston Foundation to develop a national seed bank system for endangered plants in Canada.

■ Under the guidance of RBG personnel, CBCN's Board approved a member package for the network. Initial response to the program suggested that over a dozen Canadian botanical gardens, arboreta and related institutions would prepare applications to join.

■ On behalf of RBG and CBCN, Coordinator David Galbraith participated in an international pilot program on access to genetic resources in botanical gardens. The first workshop was held at Kew Gardens, UK in December of 1997.

■ Purple loosestrife (Lythrum salicaria), a beautiful yet ecologically damaging invasive plant, has invaded thousands of wetlands across North America. With the assistance of the University of Guelph, two European beetle species (Galerucella pusilla and G. californiensis) were released into purple loosestrife infested sites at RBG's Mercer's Glen. Purple loosestrife suffered heavy damage in 1997, resulting in other wetland plants reclaiming lost territory. RBG staff monitoring has indicated rapid spread of beetles, which will result in extensive bio-control of purple loosestrife throughout our wetlands.

PARTNERS IN PROGRESS

■ RBG's Auxiliary continued to provide extraordinary support to the Gardens, through the organization and presentation of the popular Plant Sale held on May 1 and 3 and Royal Revelry, the Christmas Show and Sale held in mid November.

■ In 1997, the Auxiliary contributed over 38,000 hours of volunteer service with its 341 members. For the first time, under the supervision of our professional gardening staff, volunteers also assisted in the ongoing maintenance of our gardens.

■ Under the leadership of RBG's Auxiliary, the Gardens' Shop achieved record sales of $568,235, a total that represents a $40,000 increase over 1996.

Project Paradise

its most rewarding year of

marsh restoration. Improved water clarity and regrowth of submergent plants were due in part to the first full year of successful operation of the fishway. Between March and October, 25,379 fish longer than 30cm were intercepted, representing 26 different species. Prior to the construction of the fishway, approximately 50,000 adult carp inhabited Cootes. During the 1997 spawning season, the population was estimated at less than 3,000 fish.

RBG continues to be home to the International Registration Authority for the genus Syringa (lilac), thanks to the ongoing efforts of retired Curator Freek Vrugtman. This year, the names of six new lilac cultivars were approved by the Registrar and for the first time ever, RBG published the lilac registry, available in hard copy or on disk.

IMPROVING OUR SURROUNDINGS

■ The maintenance and upkeep of RBG's holdings is ongoing and 1997 saw a number of major capital projects completed and plans for future work developed.

■ A top course of asphalt was installed on the roads of the Arboretum; in addition improvements to the curbing and sub drainage were achieved. A replacement septic system for the Raspberry House was also installed.

■ Following a complete investigation on the condition of the roofs at RBG Centre it was determined that the majority of the roofing on the 1977 addition was in need of replacement. The top priority was the re-roofing of the exterior balconies as we experienced major leaks throughout the year. This work was completed in December. The remainder of the work will be completed in 1998.

■ Water and sewer services were installed at the Laking Garden in 1997. The addition of the sewage service will reduce the stresses that the septic system had placed on the collections. The addition of water will help as back up in the event that the water levels fall in Grindstone Creek, as this is where our irrigation water originates.

■ Our Business Information System underwent a major upgrade and resulted in the installation of thousands of feet of telephone conduits, providing much needed linkages between the Arboretum and RBG Centre and allowing e-mail access to staff at the Nature Centre and Raspberry House. These upgrades allowed us to utilize our staff resources more effectively and provide greater service to our growing audiences.

DIVERSIFYING OUR FINANCIAL BASE

■ Community support for Royal Botanical Gardens continued to increase with membership reaching 8000 for first time in the history of RBG. The majority of memberships are from the Hamilton and Burlington area; however, significant increases have been attained in the Greater Toronto Area, particularly in Oakville and Mississauga.

■ A number of fundraising events were held including a sold-out Magnolia Night on April 6 which raised $80,000 for RBG. Other fundraising events included Botanical Buffet held on September.

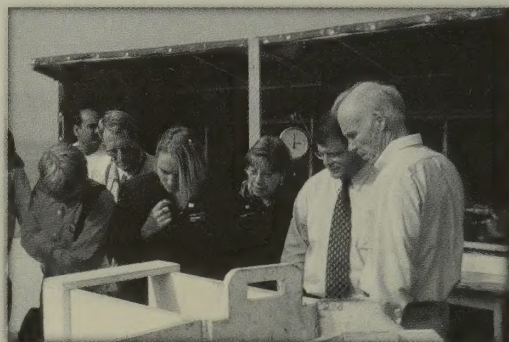

■ Corporate support of RBG events and activities experienced significant growth in 1997 and included the launching of RBG's own private label wine featuring the Laking Garden, in partnership with Willow Heights Winery

■ The rentals and catering operations were very busy in 1997 and as a result these revenues were up 6.5%. Staff have worked hard in pursuing corporate mid-week business to maximize usage of the facilities.

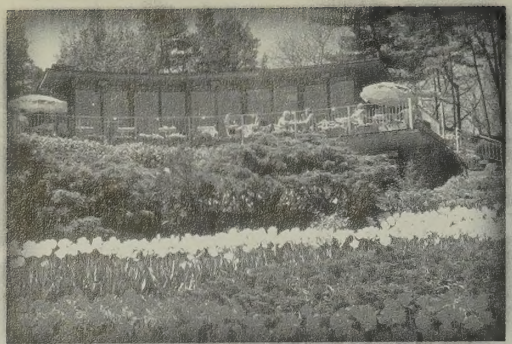

■ Compton and Greenland completed their first year as our food service operator for the restaurants. They were extremely successful with the Gardens' Café and their sub-contractor, Taylor's Tea Room, did a wonderful job in turning the Rock Garden Tea House and the Rose Garden's Turner Pavilion into destination points. Some cosmetic changes took place within the facilities this year, and there are plans for more in the future.

■ The aquatic nursery operation continued to flourish in 1997, with highlights including the addition of new wetland species thanks to the successful germination of Pontederia cordata (a highly popular and difficult to germinate species). The area was expanded to accommodate large scale growing of Bog Mat™, a biodegradable coconut fibre mat in which species are planted directly. As well, initial steps were taken to computerize the nursery operation making it more efficient and increasing its overall financial viability.

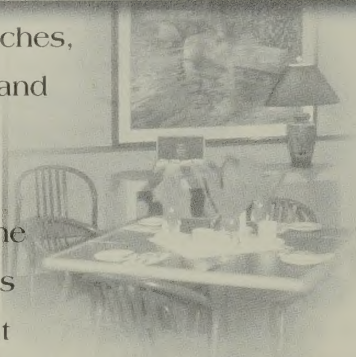

■ RBG was very entrepreneurial in seeking project funding from government programs. In addition to a major youth employment grant from Human Resources Development Canada and other employment programs, RBG competed nationally for the limited funds available under the Museums Assistance Program of the Department of Canadian Heritage and succeeded in winning major grants for access and service programs and innovative collection documentation.

Dr. Joseph MacInnis (above right), deep sea explorer and chair of the Canada Trust Friends of the Environment Foundation, visits the fishway after addressing RBG's corporate breakfast on October 9.

Light lunches, scones, and High Tea were among the favourites offered at the Rock Garden Tea House and the Rose Garden's Turner Pavilion.

FINANCIAL STATEMENTS ROYAL BOTANICAL GARDENS

AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors
Royal Botanical Gardens

We have audited the balance sheet of Royal Botanical Gardens as at December 31, 1997 and the operating fund statement of revenue and expenses and balance of fund (deficit), the endowment, capital, designated, and other funds statement of revenue and expenses and balance of funds for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the organization's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform an audit to obtain reasonable assurance whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation.

In our opinion, these financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the organization as at December 31, 1997 and the results of its operations and the changes in its financial position for the year then ended in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The significant accounting policies followed by Royal Botanical Gardens [RBG] are summarized to facilitate review of the financial statements.

Financial statements

[i] The operating fund includes administration, the costs for the operations and maintenance of garden and conservation areas, buildings, ongoing development of major plant collections, garden and conservation areas as well as scientific and educational activities. Other special activities and programs are also administered by this fund with the costs mainly funded by grants, donations, and user fees.

[ii] The endowment, capital, designated, and other funds represent funds that have been received from personal and corporate donations, various estates, other special donations, and grants. Assets associated with these funds have been segregated and revenues generated by these assets are allocated to the various funds in proportion to the balance of the funds. Expenses are charged to these funds in accordance with the terms of the specific endowments or grants. The investments owned by these funds are managed by an independent investment counsel.

Revenue recognition

[i] Grants are recorded as revenue when the related expenses have been made and the applications for the grants have been approved by the relevant government agencies. Grants which have been received in advance of incurring the related expenses are included on the balance sheet as deferred revenues.

[ii] Donations are recognized as revenue in the year in which they are received.

Donations in kind

Donations in kind of $92,397 [1996 - $92,392] are recorded at their estimated fair market value at the date of donation and are included in "membership fees and donations" and "other programs and projects" in the Operating Fund Statement of Revenue and Expenses and Balance of Fund (Deficit).

Fixed assets

Fixed assets which were acquired from current donated funds are charged to expense in the year of acquisition.

Statement of changes in financial position

A statement of changes in financial position is not presented since cash flows from operating, investing, and financing activities are readily apparent from the other financial statements.

2. REVENUE

	1997 $	1996 $
Membership fees and donations
Membership fees	307,939	270,938
Donations	354,965	356,824

Other including youth employment projects	663,124	173,993
	1,090,074	593,654

3. ENDOWMENT FUND

The Endowment Fund includes donations that are designated by the donor for support of specific activities or projects. This fund includes Palmer Memorial Trust, Woodland Garden Fund, Katie Osborne Lilac Garden Fund, Barbara Laking Memorial Fund, and the Dunnington Grubb Fund.

4. PROJECT PARADISE

The restoration of Cootes Paradise as part of the Fish and Wildlife Habitat Restoration Project in Cootes Paradise and Grindstone Creek and the Hamilton Harbour Remedial Action Plan are in process. While the work plan is being implemented, fundraising efforts continue with respect to collection of pledges and increasing support for the project. The work plan will be implemented to the extent for which funds are available. The pledge commitments as at December 31, 1997 amount to $588,575.

5. BIODIVERSITY

To further the biodiversity efforts of RBG, the Board of Directors resolved to be a major player in the formation of the Canadian Botanical Conservation Network ["CBCN"]. The goal of the CBCN is to aid Canadian botanical gardens and arboreta in realizing their potential to contribute to the conservation of biological diversity. The CBCN is a national program with a long-term goal of making a significant contribution to the survival of many of Canada's endangered plants.

6. RESERVE FUNDS

	1997 $	1996 $
Replacement of mobile equipment	153,806	165,661
Accumulated sick leave [see below]	115,205	105,930
RBG centre maintenance	347,520	329,158
	616,531	600,749

Under a previous sick leave benefit plan, certain employees may become entitled to a cash payment in lieu of sick leave days when they leave the Royal Botanical Gardens' employment. This plan has been replaced by long-term disability plans for service commencing in 1978.

The liability for these accumulated days, to the extent that they have vested and could be taken in cash by an employee on terminating, has been provided for at the end of the year.

7. INVESTED WITH THE REGIONAL MUNICIPALITY OF HAMILTON-WENTWORTH

This account balance represents cash and investments held on behalf of RBG and is payable on demand. Interest is paid on this account based on the rate of return that the Region earns on its investments. Interest earned was applied to the funds to which they relate.

8. INCOME TAXES

RBG is a registered Canadian charity and is not subject to income taxes.

9. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

The Auxiliary of The Royal Botanical Gardens ["Auxiliary"] is a non-profit organization that raises funds for the benefit of RBG. RBG provides facilities to the Auxiliary at no cost. Donations received from the Auxiliary during the year amounted to $107,525 [1996 - $101,021]. In addition, the Royal Botanical Gardens Crown Foundation [the "Foundation"] raises funds for the benefit of RBG. Donations received from the Foundation during the year amounted to $70,000 [1996 - nil].
